INSTITUTIONAL PROFILE

Hiil Academy

A multi-skill e-learning platform

Who we are

At Hiil Academy, we believe learning should help people do more with what they know. We are a multi-skill e-learning platform for people who want to strengthen their knowledge, develop practical capabilities and prepare for the next stage of their education or working life.

Our ambition reaches beyond a single subject. We want to bring together learning across education, leadership, digital skills and professional development, with a clear connection between what people learn and how they can use it.

Education is the starting point of our current catalogue. As we develop a broader learning offer, our focus remains on useful knowledge, clearly presented courses and opportunities for people to keep growing.

Learning with a practical purpose

We see learning as an ongoing part of life. Our aim is to help people approach new responsibilities with greater understanding and turn knowledge into something useful for their work, studies and communities.

Our purpose and vision

Our purpose

To make practical, specialist-led learning easier to access and use, helping people develop skills that support their education, work and contribution to their communities.

Our vision

To grow a trusted multi-skill learning platform where people can continue developing throughout their lives. We want Hiil Academy to be a place learners return to when they need to understand a subject, strengthen a skill or explore a new direction.

Who we design our learning for

Our intended audience includes people at different stages of learning and professional life.

Students and emerging professionals

Learners building the knowledge and practical capabilities to support further study, work or a new professional direction.

Teachers and education leaders

Educators exploring teaching, assessment, school management and leadership. These needs are reflected in our current education courses.

Professionals and lifelong learners

People who want to refresh their knowledge, expand their abilities and keep learning as their responsibilities and interests change.

Our current learning offer

We begin with two courses in education. Their video lessons come from Bare Mahad Salaad's original YouTube courses, with the source linked on each course page.

Our approach to learning

Practical knowledge

We focus on learning that connects to real questions and responsibilities. Our current courses examine how schools are managed and how assessment can inform teaching, keeping knowledge close to the situations in which it is used.

Clear choices for learners

We want learners to understand a course before they choose it. Course pages set out the subject, lessons, price and stated requirements. The learner dashboard provides a place to manage learning, and our support contact gives learners a route for questions.

A growing multi-skill direction

Our broader direction includes digital and professional skills. Social Media Management is listed as Coming Soon and is not yet open for enrolment. Books, research resources and certificate verification are also being prepared.

Any completion certificate is a record of course completion, not an accredited degree. Availability, eligibility and any fee should be checked for the relevant course.
